Carol,

My appologies. What with the move, search conferences, etc., I won't be able to come to the CD meeting tomorrow. I don't really have much substance to add to the dialogue. Here are some things that caught my attention.

1. I would be very interested in whether or not EPA is in a position to comment on, or needs a strategy to enhance the adequacy of the CD's addressing, or level of equity in covering, all sources of contamination. I think to a certain extent, this gets at the "orphan sites" concept & a strategy for getting to other sources.

2. Is EPA in a position, through a mechanism like this one, to comment directly about the fact that the acid mine drainage from Kholer/Longfellow (sp?) is not addressed?

3. Is it too far out there to request a specific clause that requires Sunnyside to support & facilitate, or just support a stakeholders focus on all other sources of contamination? is this already being done through the stakeholder group &, if yes, could they use additional financial support, which Sunnyside could funnel through this settlement? Would it be legal to do it in this mechanism?

Thanks for pulling all the comments together and facilitating a final set.

Nat
